

ABSTRACT

An contact tonometer for sensing intra-ocular pressure (IOP) including a micro-electro-mechanical system (MEMS) device forming a transducer/sensor at or in contact with a contact end of the tonometer where the cornea is contacted and electronics receiving an electrical signal from the transducer and processing the signal to produce a display indicative of intra-ocular pressure.